SUSPECT INSIDE JOB

Driver Forbidden To Turn Into Alley—Canadian Government Owned Truck

By United Press Leased Wire
Detroit, Mich.—Several suspects were held by police Saturday in connection with the robbery here of a Canadian government truck of twenty-six mail pouches. Authorities today checked up on the loot which they believed would total close to $200,000. All but three of the pouches were supposed to have contained registered matter.

One of the stolen pouches is believed to have contained the day's receipt of the Kew-Forest race track in Windsor. Other pouches carried valuable securities consigned from Canadian banks to Detroit financial institutions.

Authorities are convinced that the bandits had information from some one inside the mail service regarding the value of the mail sacks on the truck.

William N. McCauley, driver of the truck, had left the ferry only a few minutes before the robbery and was driving toward the postoffice when an auto drove up alongside of his truck and commanded him to turn into an alley. He drove up the alley, which had been blocked at the far end by another auto. The messenger was ordered from the back and stood facing a wall with two guns, of the other three robbers threw the pouches into their auto.

INDUSTRY "BLOC" MAKES TAX HOWL

Manufacturers Will Fight Increases in Federal Surtax and Estate Tax Rates

By Fraser Edwards
Washington, D. C.—New obstacles to the administration's revised tax bill, endangering the Capper-Lodge compromise program, Saturday beset the progress of the measure through the House.

Overnight a manufacturers' bloc was formed to fight the increases in surtax and estate tax rates and the retention of the capital stock tax, included in the compromise plan.

New England senators, including Moses and Keyes, New Hampshire, McLean and Brandagee, Connecticut, Dillingham, Vermont, and Colt, Rhode Island form the bulk of the manufacturers' bloc with senators Calder and Wadsworth of New York, and Edge, New Jersey.

This new "bloc" insists that manufacturers, corporations and wealthy individuals are entitled to due consideration in the bill. If only the demands of other classes are heeded, these senators maintain that capital will buckle under the burden of taxation and further stagnation of business will result. They are largely in sympathy with the committee bill.

THINK SHANTUNG ADJUSTMENT NEAR

Washington, D. C.—The United States would like to see continued negotiations between Japan and China which would bring about a settlement of the Shantung question, it was learned Saturday.

Secretary of State Hughes has been furnished a copy of the text of the Chinese reply rejecting the recent Japanese proposals for returning Shantung.

It is the hope of authorities of this government that Japan's recent proposal was not final, and that there can be further discussions between the countries which will bring about an agreement.

China's present reply rejecting the proposal is regarded here as indicating that the two countries are not so far apart on the Shantung question.

TWO CATTLEMEN KILLED IN MEXICAN FUN FEUD

El Paso, Texas.—The bodies of Earl and Fred Bass, brothers, of this city, are enroute here from Tampico, Mexico, where they were killed in a cattlemen's gun fight with their cousins, the Chisholm brothers, also of El Paso.

Troubles due to business disagreements a year ago, followed by dissolution of partnership, was reported responsible for the feud.

YELLOW FEVER RAGES IN MEXICAN GUN FEUD

El Paso, Texas.—Forty persons have died of yellow fever in and near Mazatlan and five at Culiacan, according to reports from the west coast of Mexico. Four Americans were said to be among the victims.

Many families were moving north to escape the epidemic, according to the reports.

U. S. DID NOT "SLAM DOOR" ON COLONIES

British Approval of Dominion
Delegations at Arms Parley
Relieves Tension

U. S. HAPPY OVER OUTCOME

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The United States government is deeply gratified over the decision of Great Britain to include representatives of Canada, New Zealand and Australia in the British delegation to the armament conference next month.

Back of this manifestation of pleasure is an interesting inside story which illustrates, first, how easily misunderstandings can arise between nations, and second, how frankness on the part of our public officials has checkmated a possible false impression at the very start.

Somehow or another Premier Hughes of Australia has gotten the idea that the United States didn't want to see the British dominions represented. He said in his latest speech that America had "slammed the door" against Australian representation. Sitting five thousand miles from Washington and London, it was not unnatural that the Australians should have misconstrued what was going on. Indeed, many newspapers in Canada have given an impression of disappointment that the United States was in some way responsible for blocking Canadian representation.

There was a feeling that America might well have issued a direct invitation to Canada, New Zealand and Australia because their shores were washed by the Pacific and they are as much interested in settling the problems of the Pacific as are the people of the United States.

Couldn't Give Invitation
But America couldn't issue such an invitation. To do so would be to offend the British government at London, which has scrupulously insisted that the foreign affairs of her dominions be handled, though the London government, and not direct between Washington and Ottawa or Washington and Melbourne.

The United States government didn't feel that it would even be proper to say anything informally to the British government about the desire of the American people to see the British dominions represented. It was considered the height of indiscretion for our government to tell Great Britain how she should choose her delegation. The status of the dominions was so far as the American government was concerned that of sovereign states like New York or Ohio, but in international affairs the central government alone could be dealt with.

Washington Pleased
Naturally when the British government of its own volition therefore chooses a delegate each from Canada, New Zealand and Australia, the Washington government is plainly pleased and does not hesitate to show it. But such a speech as Premier Hughes has made in Australia, based upon his belief that the dominions would have been invited before except for America's unwillingness cannot be offset except by a statement of the facts. News dispatches to Australia are probably meagre. Also there is no telling what may have been said in official cablegrams between London and Melbourne. For indeed there was some misconception in Britain about the size of the various delegations. Everybody recognized the value of small delegations, which make conference work easier and more rapid. But at no time did the United States seek to limit the size of any delegation. From the first it was made clear that each delegation would vote as a unit anyway and that it did not make any practical difference whether a delegation had three or six or ten. So the United States is sucking to the original number—four—while Great Britain has decided to have six. Out of the six three will be representatives of the dominions. America is happy over it and our government knows that eventually when the true story is told in Australia there will be an abandonment forthwith of any notion that the United States "slammed the door."

In fact, more than one circumstance points to the fact that the United States has hopes from the start that the British dominions would be represented at the forth-coming conference.

Pastor Found Guilty Of Killing His Wife

The Rev. John Spencer Faces
Life Sentence or Hanging For Forcibly Drowning His Wife in Lake at California Resort.

By United Press Leased Wire
Lakeport, Calif.—The Rev. John Spencer, formerly a physician of Oklahoma, Saturday was convicted of the murder of his wife, Maude Spencer.

The verdict was returned after the jury had been out six hours. It was stated that until the final ballot the vote had stood 11 for conviction and one for acquittal.

Mrs. Spencer was drowned in Clear Lake, on which Lakeport is located, while vacationing here with her husband during the summer.

"The Lord's will be done," murmured the Rev. Mr. Spencer as he was led from the courtroom to a cell where he will await passing of sentence. The jury recommended life imprisonment as the sentence. The court has the choice between life imprisonment or hanging as the possible sentence.

It was believed Spencer would appeal the case.

The verdict was something of a surprise to the community.

The Rev. Mr. Spencer was to trial on Monday. He had been arrested in San Jose, Calif., two months ago.

Spencer's arrest followed an autopsy on Mrs. Spencer's body which caused authorities to believe she had been forcibly and not accidentally drowned.

SHREWD IRISHMEN GO TO LONDON FOR PEACE MEETING

Preparations for Long Drawn Out Session Are Made by Sinn Fein Party.

By Ed. L. Keen
London.—Irish delegates to the peace conference opening here Tuesday, anticipate a long drawn out session, it was revealed Saturday.

The Sinn Fein party, which will arrive here Saturday night will include a large staff of secretaries, typists and stenographers. They will be equipped with a huge mass of printed data in support of various claims.

Irish sympathizers interpret these evidences of preparations for a lengthy conference as a hopeful sign. They will give the delegates a big reception on their arrival here.

Well informed persons are anticipating rapid-like sharpness in bargaining. The negotiators are all described as virile and alert. Lloyd George evidently will depend principally upon Winston Churchill, Lord Birkenhead and Austen Chamberlain, while Edmond De Valera, undoubtedly will rely on Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith.

While conversing with newspaper correspondents recently, Lloyd George referred to the Irish delegates as "the ablest and shrewdest negotiators in the world."

Londoners are extremely curious about the Irish representatives, but the Irish themselves, however, are not so. Four months ago he was the detested leader of a "murder gang" and there was an unqualified reward of $50,000 for him "dead or alive." When he arrives Monday, he will be able to walk the streets of London unmolested, so great a change has the peace negotiations wrought in the Irish situation.

HOLD YOUTH FOR MURDER OF GIRL

Son of Wealthy Family is Accused of Stabbing Outraged Child to Death

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison, New Jersey.—Frank Kluzen, 14, arrested for the maniacal murder of little Jeanette Lawrence, 12, was taken to the county jail in Morristown Saturday for safe keeping.

The boy denied he had stabbed the girl 25 times with a pocket knife and hidden her outraged body behind a clump of trees, known as Kluzen wood.

Authorities did not reveal the information that led to his arrest. In the warrant in which they charged him with the murder, there was no statement of evidence that might connect the boy with the crime.

The Kluzens are one of the wealthiest families in Middlesex county. They live only a short distance from the scene of the murder. The boy, police said, is an over developed lad looking about 16 years old. Suspicion first fell on him when he took part in a search for the missing girl before her body was discovered. A policeman searching the woods said he noticed the boy was trembling.

This was told to the chief of police and he ordered the boy held at home, after the body was discovered. The warrant was sworn out 12 hours later.

Many Overcome IN PRISON FIRE

Loss of $45,000 is Caused by Flames in Waupun State Penitentiary

By United Press Leased Wire
Waupun, Wis.—Convicts at the state prison were battling a fire in a huge pile of Mexican fiber, which after smoldering for several hours, burst out in flames early Saturday morning.

Scores were overcome by the dense poisonous smoke which filled the big warehouse and the prison hospital was filled to capacity early Saturday morning with convicts and city firemen who fell victims to the smoke and gas.

Fearing the prisoners might seize the opportunity to launch a jail delivery, Warden Cole doubled the guard.

Origin of the fire could not be determined, which will result in a loss of $45,000 covered by insurance, according to Warden Cole.

Prison Doors Open for Chicago Boy After Fling With Mail Robbery Loot

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Carl, the 21-year-old prodigal son of Carl Steller, ex., was home Saturday after spending $45,000 in two years—but the failed calf was not prepared.

Instead Carl's father turned him over to police declaring the son obtained the money as his share in the $234,000 mail robbery at Whiting, Indiana, in 1919.

The boy confessed. He told of fleeing Chicago with a neighbor girl after the robbery, of their marriage in Los Angeles, where he spent $10,000 on airplanes, racing autos, diamonds, fine clothes and high living.

With his bride he traveled across the country in an airplane to Texas, where his money ran out. The bride, who was soon to become a mother and who was blamed by Carl's parents for urging him to take part in the robbery, scrubbed floors and did other menial work in order that they might live.

The wayward couple beat their way home on freight trains and knocked at the door of Steller's home last night. The father immediately called the police.

Hawes Recalls Trials of Franciscan Sisters Who Founded Institution

By United Press Leased Wire
Kansas City, Mo.—The one step, as well as the toddle and shuffle, was named as innocent hero Saturday, R. B. Cook, superintendent of the recreation department of the board of welfare, ruled the dance from public halls. "It's suggestive" he explained. The waltz, two step, fox trot, schottische and barnyard dance will be permissible, Cook said.

"It is a wonderful accomplishment," That is how Mayor J. A. Hawes describes the St. Elizabeth hospital achievement. He was busy Saturday morning distributing badges to every city official and alderman, to whom a special invitation was extended to attend the laying of the cornerstone Sunday afternoon. The city fathers will be given a place of honor at the exercises.

"I was in Appleton when the Franciscan sisters first came here to look over the field," said Mayor Hawes. "and my capacity as a registered pharmacist at that time enabled me to know intimately what took place. A small hospital at the corner of Drew and Franklin streets was struggling for existence, and little encouragement was held out to the sisters to locate here.

"Pleading on the part of influential people brought a final decision to build a hospital. I was on the building committee and knew what uphill work it was to erect a hospital here. It took a long time and a lot of hard work before the institution became a paying one at all. There was a heavy debt the sisters had to pay off.

"Half a dozen courageous women have worn themselves out making the Appleton institution a success. They have worked under handicaps, but this splendid new building that is going up and the changed situation they will confront when it is ready will make the hospital problem a different one for them. They have accomplished what no others except an order of sisters could have done, and Appleton surely is proud of its proposed new hospital."

"Y" CAMPAIGN TO END MONDAY NIGHT

Workers Confident of Reach-
Goal in Drive—Observe Anniversary

The closing banquet of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign will be held Monday evening at 6:30 instead of Saturday night as announced. The final report will be made and prizes awarded. Campaign workers are confident of securing 1500 memberships. Men and boys still are working and getting in touch with prospects they had been unable to see during the first days of the campaign. Men and boys who take out a membership before Monday can still do so under the old rate. The increased rates are to take effect upon the closing of the campaign.

Word has been received that the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Y. M. C. A. by Sir George Williams will be observed Oct. 11 at the Y. M. C. A. college in Chicago. F. J. Harwood, president of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. and president of the Y. M. C. A. state board and Judson G. Rosebush, a member of the international committee, will represent the local Y. M. C. A.

MILWAUKEE HAS 1,000 VETS IDLE

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee.—More than 1,000 former service men had registered at the city hall to date, showing they needed assistance or employment, it was learned here Saturday.

Investigation of each registered man's case will begin immediately under the supervision of the Service Men's Relief association here. Young women of the city have been asked to assist in taking a census of the unemployed and in making a house to house canvass in soliciting funds with which the association will carry on its relief work.

Temporary quarters will be set up for the men until funds have been secured which will be used in building barracks to house the men this winter.

MEAT WORKERS ARE VOTING ON STRIKE

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Vote of sixty-five thousand union-packing house employees throughout the country was cast Saturday on whether they favored striking to accepting the employers' declaration of an open shop.

Officials of the Amalgamated Meat Packers and Butcher Workers union made every effort to obtain a 100-per cent vote of the union members.

No question of wages was considered in the strike vote. The only question up for decision was whether the men would strike or accept the announcement made by the "big five" packers when the Alschuler wage agreement expired on Sept. 15, that they would operate on the "American plan" in the future.

COSTS MUST DROP WITH FREIGHT DROP

Washington, D. C.—Railroad rates cannot be reduced until operating costs, including wages, are lowered, a committee of railway executives told President Harding Saturday.

Enactment of the railroad funding bill would mean work for thousands of idle railroad men, the president was also told by the committee. The executives had been called by President Harding to discuss the question of reducing rates as a means of stimulating industry.

Fines ranging from $100 to $10,000 and imprisonment from ninety days to five years could be imposed under the Kenyon measure, which defines profiteering as "to charge excessive or unreasonable prices."

Takes Three Weddings To Claim Russian Princess

By Webb Miller
By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—The first of three wedding ceremonies uniting William B. Leeds, Jr., and Princess Xenia of Russia, was performed here Saturday.

It was the civil ceremony. Two church weddings will take place tomorrow, the first in the American church at 2:30 p. m., and the second in the Russian church at 3 p. m.

Saturday's ceremony, which was performed in the registry office, was very informal. There were no invited guests. Prince Christopher of Greece, stepfather of the bridegroom, was the witness in behalf of young Leeds, and Grand Duke Dimitri Pavlovitch of Russia was the bride's witness.

The princesses were mourning Saturday in respect for her father, Grand Duke Mikhailovitch, who was killed by bolsheviks. At the religious ceremonies Sunday, however, she will be attired in the picturesque Russian bridal costume. The guests Sunday

Lawrence Loyalty Legion Or- ganized at Banquet to Boost Local School

FORM ALUMNI SOCIETIES

Badger Graduates 'Clamoring

Their Support

The Lawrence Loyalty Legion, an organization of "old grads" of Lawrence college was launched Friday evening at the Sherman house following a banquet given a committee of former Lawrence students by Dr. Samuel Plantz of the college. The purpose of the organization is to raise $75,000 to be presented to the college by the alumni at the celebration of the diamond jubilee of the college at commencement, 1922. All former Lawrence students will be solicited in the campaign for $600,000 endowment of which the alumni will raise $75,000 in shares of $100 each, payable in installments for five years. More than 130 of these shares have already been pledged.

Several committees were appointed and work will commence at once. The executive committee includes James Wood, James S. Reeve, Manley Sandborn, George Baldwin, Carl Stansbury, Charles Boyd, Kenneth Dickinson, Lee Rasey and A. G. Oosterbaan. The publicity and "pep" committee will include Eugene Colvin, Willard Ford, Benjamin Brown, Frank Schneller and the Misses Muriel Kelly, Ethel Buckmaster and Geraldine Pugh. Two field solicitors, Kevill Larson of Duluth, Minn., and Samuel Cookson of Neenah have been engaged to take up their work at once.

Advisory Board
Each large city in the middle west where there are large numbers of former students will have a representative on the advisory board. Each state will also have a representative, but Wisconsin has been chosen. Lawrence is widely represented as in Milwaukee, Chicago, New York, Duluth there will be special officers. Each class which has graduated from the college will have a secretary appointed to keep records which will show the comparative loyalty of the classes as expressed in the campaign. The legion will not confine its activities to the campaign but has as its purpose a booster program for Lawrence.

Lawrence alumni is all parts of Wisconsin have been clamoring for organization, so that they may get behind the college and make it the most prominent and best known college in the state. Several cities have had alumni clubs for many years including the Milwaukee association which entertains the teachers during the teachers convention each year. Plans for this event are bigger than ever according to word from Milwaukee. The New York association under the direction of Miss Nellie Waldo meets each year as does the one in Duluth. More associations will be formed to back Lawrence scholastically and athletically as well as financially.

DOWNTOWN FIRE SWEEPS NEECEDAH

Principal Business Buildings of Wisconsin Town—Burn Down Completely

Necedah, Wis.—Practically the entire business section of this city was destroyed by a fire which started last Friday night and which was still burning Saturday morning.

The flames started in the Kotowski restaurant, from unknown origin and due to the frame buildings nearby spread rapidly.

The New Lisbon fire department was called, but not until early Saturday morning did they have the conflagration under control.

The buildings completely destroyed were the Miner opera house and Kotowski restaurant, Burk block and the Nieschlag bakery. Many other buildings were seriously damaged and the loss has been estimated to run above $100,000.

Although the fire was under control, the flames were still pouring into the smoldering ruins Saturday.

HISTORY OF RED CROSS PORTRAYED IN FINE PAGEANT

Efforts of Organization to Relieve Suffering Are Vividly Shown

Nearly 1,000 people watched the history of the Red Cross of War and Peace unfold in pageantry at Lawrence Memorial chapel Friday evening under the auspices of the Outagamie county chapter of the American Red Cross. Combining realism in the form of actual presentation of the work of the Red Cross in times of war and then in time of peace with the symbolism of characters such as Columbia, Humanity, and Humanitarian, the pageant presented a great story of service to the world.

The spectacle opened with the historic characters of Red Cross history: Humanity, Mrs. C. W. Treat, welcomed them to the stage, and then representatives of all the war services of the Red Cross were marshalled onto the stage. The trio composed of Mrs. Elmer Berger, Clement Hackworth and Harold McGilgan sang "Let's We Forget" at the close of the scene. Columbia, the part taken by Mrs. Roy Marston, commenced the Red Cross of Peace to take charge of suffering of all kinds. The Red Cross of Peace, played by Mrs. E. E. Dunn, then welcomed the Returned Soldier, Herbert Farrand.

The second part was given over to scenes from the peace time service of the Red Cross. Medina and Dale people put on the act showing the nursing service to the blind, the halt and the lame. Mrs. T. E. Orblson assisted by a group showed the problems which certain people brought to the office of the Red Cross in November and how they were straightened out by April. Mrs. A. L. McGilgan had charge of the group which showed the sewing activities of the Junior Red Cross.

Disaster Scene Effective
The disaster scene was one of the best features of the entire program from the standpoint of combination of realism and symbolism. Figures swathed in black flappy robes which covered them from head to foot represented pestilence, cyclone, flood and fire and all other causes of disaster. They swooped down upon the people of the community until all was a furor of excitement. The Red Cross nurses then arrived to bring relief and calm to the community.

The final scene of the second action was put on to show the work of the Junior Red Cross by children from Appleton, Kimberly and Kaukauna. It showed a group of children who had a home and mother compared with the poor little things who are homeless, motherless and friendless. Another group carried signs showing the various health agencies of the country. The coffee and tea pot as compared with the milk bottle and their contents was one of the clever features of this action as were the little vegetables which are good for children. Kindergarten children under the direction of Miss Genevieve Carroll completely won the hearts of their audience with an interpretive dance.

All members of the cast marched onto the stage from the back of the chapel for the grand finale after Community, played by Mrs. Gustave Keller, had pledged allegiance to the Red Cross of Peace. The stage held more than 600 men, women and children for this scene. The pageant was produced under the management of Frank Young, the dramatic directorship of Mrs. L. H. Moore assisted by a marshal for each group and Miss Alice Barrows, director of pageantry for the Central Division of the American Red Cross.

FROSH WARNED TO FOLLOW TRADITION

Collegians Stir Up Interest in Football Game—Girls Plan Athletics

School spirit ran high at Lawrence college Friday morning during the student chapel period in anticipation of the Lawrence-Stevens Point game which will be played on Lawrence field Saturday afternoon. Captain "Bill" Smith told of the strong team which Stevens Point has and of the rivalry between these men and the five Lawrence players from Wisconsin Rapids. Coach McCleskey spoke for the team, saying that after the hard battle with Wisconsin, none of the Lawrence men is prepared to meet such strong rivals as those on the Stevens Point team.

The student senate committee read the names of freshmen who have failed to wear their green caps and of the girls who have been wearing their arm bands around their wrists instead of the more conspicuous place around their arms. The freshmen were reminded that it is customary that no first year man be allowed to accompany a young lady to the game.

Evelyn Gerritt made an announcement for the Women's Athletic association which is going to take up hiking, swimming, tennis, basketball, indoor baseball actively and may start a class in boxing. The association conducted a tag day to raise funds for equipment. The first sandwich sale of the season was conducted after chapel. The sales became regular institutions during the year and are at the opportune time, 9:30, when students who got up too late for breakfast are ready to eat.

Complete Water Mains
A crew of men installing water mains for the city for a distance of about 500 feet on Fremont-st. from Jackson to South Division, expects to finish its work Friday. The water department is rushing its work in various portions of the city so it will be completed before a freezeup.

Plan Winter Entertainment
The meeting of the Appleton Motor Boat club Thursday evening at its club house was well attended, practically all of the members being present. Arrangements were made for giving a series of suppers and card parties during the winter, about one a month. Several business matters pertaining to the club were discussed but no action was taken.

Will Is Admitted
The will of the late Albert Verwey, which was contested by some of the heirs, was admitted to probate Thursday by County Judge John Bollen. Morgan & Johns represented the proponents at the hearing and Mark S. Caultin the contestants.

Sophomores Elect
Officers of the sophomore class of the high school were elected at a class meeting Wednesday afternoon. The following students were elected: Richard Keller, president; Marie Voelck, vice president; Mary Thom, secretary and treasurer; Miss Miller was chosen as faculty advisor.

Dredge Out Channel
A dredge has been at work below Ashland division drawbridge for several days lowering the bed of the channel, which, because of low water, has impeded navigation. Several instances have occurred where both tugs and barges have been grounded. The channel will be deepened for a distance of several hundred feet.

WEEKDAY CLASSES IN RELIGION WILL BEGIN WEDNESDAY
Plans Are Completed to Give Instruction to Public School Pupils
Classes in weekday religious education will commence on Wednesday, Oct. 12 rather than on Monday, Oct. 10 as the date was announced. Children whose parents elect the Baptist, Congregational, All Saints Episcopal, Emmanuel Evangelical, German Methodist, First Methodist, Presbyterian or Reformed church will meet at either the Presbyterian church or the Y. M. C. A. These churches have combined to teach the children, whose parents wish it, religious studies on two days a week. The children may be dismissed from school at 3 o'clock on these days.

The plan of the weekday religious school is to bring more religious teachings into the lives of the children. The eight churches which have combined for this purpose feel that they have enough fundamental religious teachings in common to warrant teaching them to all children alike, free from sectarian interpretation and barren formalism. The emphasis of the teachings will be put on the Bible and the life of Christ.

Other churches are undertaking the religious education of the children separately. Catholic, Lutheran and Jewish churches have been providing additional religious studies to their children for many years through the medium of their parochial schools and special classes. These churches include all school ages while the new plan as approved by the school board takes in only children of the fifth and sixth grades.

On Wednesday children of the First, Second and Sixth wards will go to the Presbyterian church for instruction. They meet at this church on Mondays and Wednesdays, while the children of the Third, Fourth and Fifth wards meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Prof. E. E. Emme is superintendent of the work.

ALL APPLETON IS INVITED TO HEAR CONVENTION TALKS
Noted Women Here Next Week for Annual Meeting of Club Federation
The board of directors and members of the Appleton Women's club wish to extend a cordial invitation to all Appleton people to attend any or all of the sessions of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs convention which opens at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Congregational church. Men in the city are especially invited to the Thursday and Friday evening addresses which will be given over to talks on citizenship. All evening meetings will be held in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8 o'clock. There will be an organ recital at 7:45 each evening by Prof. Frank Taber of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, a noted speaker and a former president of the General Federation of Women's clubs comes to the federation convention Friday evening to speak on "What Can I Do?" She will put forth the citizen's problem from the standpoint of the responsibility of every citizen. Mrs. Pennybacker has completed over 100,000 miles of speaking engagements in four years. She is heralded as one of the foremost women in her understanding of woman's actual place in the world.

Mrs. Thomas Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, will speak Thursday evening. Her topic will be "Citizen or Politician," giving an interesting exposition of woman's place in the political world and what she can make her vote mean. The Wednesday evening session will be especially interesting to club members and women in general because it will be the silver jubilee session of the founding of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs.

WINS DIVORCE FROM BAD CHECK ARTIST

Clara Kreiter Given Freedom by Court—Husband is in Reformatory

As an aftermath to the conviction of Everett Kreiter in July on a charge of passing worthless checks, his wife Clara Kreiter, secured a divorce Friday in municipal court before Judge John Bollen.

Application for the decree was made after Kreiter was found guilty of passing worthless checks and was sentenced to three years in the reformatory at Green Bay. Kreiter came to Appleton from Milwaukee in March, purporting to be in opulent circumstances. Shortly after his arrival here he was married to Miss Clara Tank of the town of Har-ison, Calumet-co. He purchased a house in Appleton from Otto Stammer and gave him as first payment a check for $500 on a Milwaukee bank. The check came back marked "no funds" and Kreiter's arrest followed.

EAGLE DRIVE GETS OFF TO GOOD START

Campaign is on in Earnest—
Football Team Plays Menominee Sunday

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Eagles got off to a good start in their membership campaign at a meeting Thursday evening in Eagle hall and for the next 30 days the effort will be to enlarge the size of the order. The new plan of attendance was started also and indications are that

EAGLES HALL
Sunday, Oct. 9, 8:00 P. M.
"Sins of the Children," also two reel comedy. Admission Free. Everybody welcome.

It will help much to bring the members to the meetings. A chicken "feed" was served after the business meeting.

Ready for Menominee
All is set for the third football game of the season at Kaukauna ball park Sunday afternoon when the American legion team meets the Menominee Maroons. Practice this week took all the soreness of last week's game out of the players besides developing a new play or two. So far the legionnaires have resorted to little but straight football, depending on plunges to carry the ball ahead. They have been developing several trick plays and the forward pass has been worked hard in preparation for a time when such method of play will come handy.

Practically all of the regulars will start the game Sunday. Few changes will be made except in case of injury or an easy battle. Little is known of the upper peninsula team.

Kaukauna Personals
Misses Veleria Gerend and Regina Lohrer were visitors in Oshkosh Thursday.

Mrs. Anna T. Buerth was in Appleton Friday on business.

B. W. Hayes was in Green Bay on business Friday.

Mrs. Robert Towles of Manitowish, is visiting at the home of Mrs. E. C. Hallock.

Miss Nellie Kittle was an Appleton business visitor Friday.

Barney Brown of Stillwater, Mich., is in this city on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Speet left Thursday afternoon to spend the weekend in Milwaukee and its suburbs.

Helen Kunz is spending the weekend in Milwaukee.

Miss Isobel Davidson of the state educational department, was a visitor at the Outagamie County Training school Friday.

C. B. Perkins of Niagara Falls, is spending the weekend with friends in Kaukauna.

Boy is Injured Playing Football
—Car Crashes Into Wagon

Kaukauna—William Derriks was slightly bruised and Barney Mitchka escaped injury in an accident on Little Chute rd Thursday evening when Mr. Mitchka's car collided with a lumber wagon and turned turtle. It was said the car landed in such a way that another machine which came up immediately after the accident, struck the disabled car once more and carried the top off. The windshield of Mr. Mitchka's car was broken.

Reasons For Building Now

A building is an investment. The earlier it is ready for occupancy the earlier it begins to pay dividends. By building now you make your investment pay dividends more quickly.

Building materials are now plentiful. Later a shortage of freight cars, brought on by the movement of coal, crops, and fall merchandise, may make materials hard to get in quantity required. By building now, you make sure of an adequate supply of the best materials when you need them.

Whatever building you have in mind, now is a good time to start. We are always ready at our headquarters to talk over your plans and to supply the quality materials you need. When desired we also can recommend a contractor to do the job.

WHAT ONE THOUSAND BANKERS THINK

As being expressive of the composite opinions of one thousand bankers of all parts of the United States, Mr. John S. Drum of San Francisco, president of the American Bankers' association, stated to the country's financiers at their annual convention in Los Angeles, "that in the nature of things there is no room for anything but confidence in the gradual improvement of business."

"It is well to say," he continued, "that there is nothing in our domestic relations, nor in the international situation, that can sustain a pessimistic outlook, or a despondent view that the world has sunk into permanent depression." The primary cause of the suspended lethargy in business, Mr. Drum declared, is delay in the adjustment of costs and prices.

Manufacturers and workmen may not like the counsel that normal conditions will not be established fully and that the era of record prosperity will not get under vigorous headway until the adjustment of costs and prices is completed. Although this advice may be unpleasant, it is the wisest. Conditions are improving, as Mr. Drum said, and the prospect is bright, but, as he also implied, they will improve faster and better under the stimulation of the adjustment costs and prices.

The three great domestic influences, he explained, which are restraining the adjustment are: Delayed liquidation of cost of labor, sustained high costs of transportation, and continuation of an unsound system of taxation that diverts working capital from its proper channels. Business men and workmen have it in their power to expedite the return of normal conditions, and inaugurate a period of great prosperity. They have the advice of one thousand bankers of all parts of the United States as a guide: "It ought to be sound advice."

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Interviewed in London, his native city, Charlie Chaplin with wet eyes and a tremulous voice bemoans the fickleness of spontaneous fortune in crowning him with the cap and bells and deluging him with money and applause. In his fame, his success and his wealth, Charlie is morose and unhappy; like Solomon, he feels that "all is vanity." Chance opened the mystic realm of the theatre to Chaplin, and he stepped from a tragic environment of poverty and care in the congested, squalid district of London into the brightness, merriment and opportunity of the comic stage. Chance shifted him briskly to America, and then as willfully set him, a grotesque character, in the glare of the cinema, to amuse the civilized world.

Why should Chaplin be despondent while hundreds of millions, perhaps billions, of people acclaim him king of laugh-makers? Is it not one of the greatest of missions to entertain and divert the multitudes with clean comedy? In what other sphere of art or field of work would he be able to accomplish as much good? Charlie remembers sadly the distress and hopelessness of his boyhood. He yearns to convey to the prosperous and contented of the higher strata of society the sordid misery and cruel neglect of the untended, unfed, uneducated, abandoned children of the desperately poor—boys and girls, goddess and sinner, whose outlook on life is the soot and dirt of their narrow, chanceless surroundings. He longs also to play in the classic drama. He would like to appear on the stage in such roles as Beau Brummel and Hamlet. He dislikes his distinction as the funniest screen comedian.

It is not impossible that Chaplin would achieve success and fame in tragedy. Mansfield played comedy with sprightly art. Mrs. Harrison Grey Fiske was a celebrated comedienne in her youth as Minnie Maddern. Chaplin might be a great Hamlet. But the new achievement would not enable him to help those forsaken children of the slums. Charlie accepted his chance in life. Will he recognize his opportunity? Millions of people would read anything he would write. Millions would go to the theatre to hear him speak. Think of the advantages that he, as the idolized comedian, could send to the children of the tenements by written and spoken appeals for them. As Charlie Chaplin, the movie funny man, he could open the door of opportunity to the unfortunates for whom he grieves. That would be wonderful art.

THE PUBLIC AND ACCIDENTS

At the annual congress of the National Safety council in Boston the executive committee adopted resolutions declaring that "the 80,000 accidental deaths and millions of injuries occurring each year in the streets, in our industries, in homes and elsewhere, are a blot on our civilization." Seventy-five per cent of the industrial accidents are preventable, the resolutions stated, and the direct economic cost of accidents in industry alone exceeds $1,000,000,000 annually.

Until the safety movement was launched ten years ago, manufacturing corporations paid but little attention, to accidental death and injury. Loss of life, injury to person and damage to property were looked upon as part of the day's work. The death of a man was but a trifle worse than permanent disability, and permanent disability was somewhat more annoying than a petty injury. Other men were waiting to fill the vacant places.

Results of precautionary instruction and training soon convinced industrial operatives that it was not only humane, but economical, to systematize the safety work. And public officials saw the necessity of regulating traffic and safeguarding the people against hazard in the streets and elsewhere. Year after year the number of deaths and accidents have been reduced.

It is impossible to estimate how many lives have been spared through the safety movement, but the total no doubt runs into the hundreds of thousands. However, the great work has only begun. The next step of importance is to impress the public with the fact that ordinary care can obviate three-fourths of the deaths and accidents, and to have the public take an active part in the movement.

RUTH'S BAT AND MCGRAW'S PITCHERS

Judging by news items emanating from New York, quite as much interest focuses on Babe Ruth and his stalwart, home-run bat as on the Yankees and Giants. It seems as if the baseball fans outside of the metropolis look on the world's championship as chiefly a New York affair, although Miller Huggins is more popular than John McGraw.

The public prefers to have a chance to cheer Ruth for living up to his record as a slugger than an occasion to admire the effectiveness of the Giant pitchers. Pitching is the principal asset, scientifically, of a ball game, but, from the fans' point of view, timely hitting is the life of the national game.

It is fifteen years since the two teams of one city contended for the world's championship. Both of these teams had celebrated strategists as their managers. Regarding both New York clubs, regular patrons are inclined to temper their enthusiasm with the thought that well-spent money brought competent players together and constructed winning teams.

The American and National leagues have their ardent supporters, and it is this partisan concern which blows competitive excitement over the clubs. Otherwise, the people are alert over Babe Ruth. Were popular sentiment canvassed, the result would show that it hopes that Babe Ruth will win the world's championship.

Any game which can remain professionalized and thrive as a business institution as long as baseball must be conceded to be an extraordinary sport. The popularity of most other pastimes is due to the fact that the devotees are players. This is so in particular of tennis and golf. Baseball is worthy to prosper and be the national sport, because it is clean, interesting and entertaining. May the better team win is the general sentiment of the country. But, above all, may Babe Ruth acquit himself with glory.

THE PROPAGATION OF FOOD FALLACIES

Here is the first item of misinformation I happen to select from one of the latest and best textbooks dealing with diet ("Diet in Health and Disease," Friedenwald and Ruhrah, published by W. B. Saunders Company, Philadelphia, 1919):

"Grapes contain a large amount of water and considerable sugar, besides salts of sodium, potassium, magnesium, calcium, and iron. When thoroughly ripe they are very digestible, and form a useful addition to the invalid diet. The habit of swallowing the skins and seeds of grapes is most pernicious, as intestinal irritation is often brought about in this way."

So far as I know, there is nothing wrong about this except the last sentence, which represents a sad practice in medical book making, for the idea conveyed is merely some antique theory found in the older textbooks which these young authors consulted for material for their own book and passed along because it seemed traditional, not because it was reasonably true, or scientifically demonstrated, or even corroborated by common experience. Friedenwald and Ruhrah's book is second to none, from the scientific and practical points of view, but yet it fairly bristles with all sorts of inexcusable errors, for a book intended as a text for students of medicine. I hope no layman will go so far wrong as to peruse or consult such a book in the quest for authoritative information, for whoever does so, without being forewarned by solid knowledge of the subject, will not unlikely find himself quarrelling with good food for a good reason at all.

For years I have lived and practiced in the grape belt, and foot that I was, I seldom ate a grape, just as I never wet a line when I lived on the lake where the finest trout in America are caught, but I practiced among vineyardists and their families and helpers, and never have I known of any such horrible thing as "intestinal irritation" from eating the seeds or skins of grapes. Everyone who ate grapes liberally ate the seeds with the grapes, of course, now and then a good sensible person ate the seeds with the grapes only a rare neurotic or freak of some sort went to the trouble of excluding the seeds from the grapes he ate—but not from fear of this mysterious "intestinal irritation" these dietetic authors mention; the poor soul was usually afraid the seeds might cause appendicitis, which every doctor knows grape seeds never do cause.

When one eats grapes one should at least eat the seeds with the grapes; and if there is any habitual constiveness, one will do well to eat the seeds. Of course, the seeds should be carefully washed before they are eaten.

I have seen many sickly individuals who were far underweight and in miserable health gain steadily in weight and general condition while spending a few weeks picking and packing and eating grapes in the autumn. This affords many young women otherwise unable to enjoy an outing in the country with pay for pleasant and healthful work.

I shall have more to say about grapes and dried grapes (raisins) in another talk. Here I will merely add that perhaps a little of that dread "intestinal irritation" is what about nine-tenths of sedentary Americans sorely need.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Raw Tomatoes

Kindly advise me whether the eating of raw ripe tomatoes is harmful. I have heard a number of people say the cause cancers.—N. O. S.

Answer.—It is not harmful, but in many ways beneficial. The cancer myth is just one of many popular myths about cancer.

Don't Laugh, Girls

Does laughing make one fat? I am 19 years of age and laugh very easily and heartily, and I am growing quite plump, already seven pound overweight.—Miss F. J.

Answer.—Yes, it tends to make one grow fat. This should be a warning to all our fair maidens who read to adiposity.

Set of One Half Dozen of Other

Please send your letter on sex hygiene to the address below.—C. V. B.

Answer.—The address seems to have no sex. I receive many letters from sexless creatures, or from persons who feel they must conceal their sex and who sign themselves accordingly like this, C. B. Blank. Nearly every intelligent person today is either Mr. Mrs., or Miss. If your name were Charles V. Blank, or Caroline V. Blank, that would be all right, but C. V. Blank is liable to me, and her or its address is probably "City." For heaven's sake, have some individuality and gumption about you, and don't be a neuter.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Saturday, Oct. 10, 1896
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carter were visiting friends at Clintonville.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson of Manitowoc, formerly of Appleton.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carroll was seriously injured in getting out of a buggy.

The choir of the Methodist church was reorganized with a chorus of 27 voices and a quartet composed of Mrs. William Powell, Miss Nellie Waldo, Mrs. Lee and Harry Heard.

Lee Richardson, son of Frank Richardson, had his little finger taken off the day previous by coming in contact with a circular saw.

For a time the day previous the office of The Post was put in telephonic communication with the hurly-burly of Chicago Day, and the cheers of the thousands on the streets, the rattle of the drum corps and the music of the passing bands were distinctly audible to the listener 200 miles distant.

Mr. and Mrs. William Furstenberg's 5-year-old son fractured his arm by a fall from a buggy.

At a meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church it was decided to engage a deaconess for local work and an invitation was extended to Miss Fay Shepard of New York to come here.

The ladies who were endeavoring to secure $100.00 for the church's choir at Lawrence university received $2,500 from a gentleman who wished his name withheld. This raised the total secured to $27,000.

If any class of men had reason to complain of a dull season it was the proprietors of the different boat liversies. They had to contend not only with hard times but with something still worse, the bicycle.

COASTING IN WAKE OF BOAT

Passengers on one of the Hudson river ferries in New York were treated in the summer of 1913 to the odd spectacle of a canoe sailing in their wake, all the way across the river, without any means of propulsion. What made the canoe so was a question that puzzled many. The more observant noticed that the canoe did not keep to the smooth water directly off the ferryboat, but rode off to one side, in the rough waves that the paddle wheels kicked up.

The canoe also noticed that the canoe did not hug the ferryboat close, and that often it pursued its mysterious course at a considerable distance, though it traveled just as fast as the ferryboat. According to a writer in the Scientific American who explains the mystery, the canoe always took a position on the forward side of a wave and kept it all the way across. The wave carried the canoe along as the surf carries the Hawaiian on his surf board.

Municipal Music School

By Frederic J. Haskin

Rochester, N. Y.—Eighty-eight different studios where as many different kinds of instruments, pianos and voices may be going at once without any babel of noise, is one of the features of the new Eastman School of Music here.

In this $2,000,000 model of school construction, the squeaks of the tortured violin, and the "blue" notes of the "uncertain soprano" will be smothered by walls more sound proof than stone.

Laborate precautions have been taken so that every part of the framework of each room is protected against not only sound but vibration as well. An inch of cork at the base of the partitions absorbs vibrations. The floor and plumbing pipes in the studio walls are packed with asbestos wool. Fibro-felt is around the steel columns that support the floors and between all the partitions. The floors are made noiseless by layers of fibro-felt, waterproof paper, and cement, with the flooring on top.

Even the surroundings of the building are to be protected. Instead of discord and sweetness mingling in the streets and filling the unwilling ears of passersby, there will be no sound to betray the near presence of a studio of music. This desirable condition is obtained by double, war-proof sound-proof windows. During a lesson, when the windows must be closed, ventilation is insured by a complicated system of pipes and fans. The precautions to be considered in building an up-to-date music school are apparently endless. One thing which most people would probably never think of was to be sure that the ventilation system was dust-proof, as dust is an insidious enemy of musical instruments.

This school, just being completed, is expected to make Rochester a musical center of America. It is regarded as the biggest and best-equipped school of music in the country. George Eastman, who is giving it to the city, has established it as a well-endowed, non-commercial school where new and interesting things can be done to advance the art of music and make a city musical.

Rochester is an industrial city, and Mr. Eastman figured that it needs more music as recreation from the routine of factory and office. Music can be enjoyed in two ways—by producing it, and by listening to someone else. Mr. Eastman decided to develop Rochester's musical interests along both lines.

A One-Man Gift
From this idea has grown the Eastman School of Music, given free to the city, and made a part of the University of Rochester. When the building is completed, 2,000 pupils will be enrolled at a time to study the various instruments and to become vocalists. They will come from families that have never been able to think of the expense of music lessons, for the lessons are to be as inexpensive as possible, and pupils will be of all ages, for Rochester is encouraging its school children to be musical.

For the rest of the people, the ones who have not time or inclination to become musicians, Mr. Eastman has made special provisions in plans for his school. Practical courses in appreciation are to be profitably given by moving picture shows.

In one end of the big stone building a moving picture auditorium, seating 3,000, is being constructed, and here the best pictures available will be shown at "reasonable prices. The musical appreciation will be subtly instilled into the audience by having a well-trained orchestra play carefully selected music to follow the film story, and as an overture.

A good deal of effort is being expended in different cities to give moving picture audiences good music, but the Eastman school expects to set a new standard. It will have its large faculty to assist in selecting the music.

Others have preached the same idea, and have tried to get an American school of music at the National Capital. So far, that has never been seriously considered. The Rochester school may prove an inspiration for Congress and for philanthropists of other cities as well. The school of music may become as popular a bequest or gift as the public library.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle disputes or undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. In what month of the year is the water of the Atlantic Ocean off the Jersey coast warmest? K. A. P.

A. The late summer months usually produce the highest temperature in sea water off the Middle Atlantic Coast, according to the Weather Bureau, but in the case of a warm September, like the one just passed, the water may reach its highest temperature late in that month.

Q. Can you tell me at what date during the World War the Northern Lights were visible? O. C. P.

A. The Northern Lights were visible on August 26, 1915.

Q. Who did two-cent stamps first come into use? P. M. A.

A. The postage on letters was reduced to two cents for one-half ounce in 1853. In 1855 it was made two cents for one ounce or fraction of an ounce.

Q. Is there a noticeable tide in the Great Lakes? W. P. C.

A. The Hydrographic Office says there is a barely perceptible tide in the Great Lakes. It is called a "solche" and is partly due to atmospheric conditions.

Q. What is the equivalent of a yard in metric measurement? E. A. T.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

A Twentieth Amendment

While the nature of a possible twentieth amendment to the Constitution of the U. S. A. has occasioned some fearful speculation, in view of the revolutionary character of the two latest additions to that instrument, it has remained for the National Woman's party actually to draft one and secure promise of its introduction in congress. This measure proposes, in brief, to abrogate "in every respect, the common law disabilities of women." The attitude of the American press toward this proposed amendment ranges from accepting it as a matter of course, a logical corollary of the Nineteenth amendment, to branding it "a silly joke." And following the well-worn trail of the suffrage movement, the demarcation line between these two points of view coincides pretty closely with the Mason and Dixon Line.

Now that women have been given the right of ballot, "why should there be any objection to giving them such property and other civil rights as will place them on an equality with men?" asks the CANTON (O.) NEWS (Dem.), for "the archaic idea that a man should have control of his wife's property any more than that of another woman should be abandoned. American women are entitled to this protection," declares the ROCK ISLAND (Ill.) ARGUS (Dem.), and the EMPORIA GAZETTE (Rep.) finds "nothing in the program to which any man can object." It feels therefore that "any denial of the full program by any state is unfair to the women of that state, and that its passage as a federal measure should have 'smooth sailing'."

This "magna charta of equality" the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS (Ind.) believes has been made necessary by rapidly changing conditions affecting women used to bound their whole existence, it says, that while "American women used to ground their whole existence by the limits of home duties, they now count the home as only an important part of their lives," and with this enlargement of their field of activities the inequalities before the law which still obtain "have become injustices." And the PRESS holds further that "so long as there still live 'injustices' which women must fight as a sex, they will not attain that sense of unity of interest with the 'other half' which must prevail if national problems are to be faced in the interest of all."

Differing somewhat from the position taken by most of its southern colleagues, the LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.) grants that "as a general proposition equality in the rights, duties, functions and obligations of citizenship as between the two sexes are consequent upon the conferral of suffrage, and should be granted." At the same time the paper regards this attitude as a support of a philosophy which is "sound and logical" theoretically only, and it suggests cases and circumstances which "would inevitably arise" under which "equality of right would lead to highly undesirable results." Many of "the so-called disabilities and inequalities" the NORFOLK VIRGINIAN PILOT (Ind. Dem.) explains, "are closely interwoven with concepts of marriage and reciprocal rights and duties as between husband and wife," and to erase these rights and restrictions, in the opinion of the paper, "would call for a basic readjustment." Complete political, civil and legal equality can be had, but the VIRGINIAN PILOT warns that "a high price must be paid for it," since "existing inequalities unfavorable to women are not so grossly inequitable as they seem."

This position is supported by the CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind. Rep.), which, while predicting that women will secure the desired legislation, doubts that it will prove such a "victory," since it will carry with it as well "the justice of social equality." If women "demand equality in law they must in justice," the TRIBUNE declares, "accept equality in fact. If they want the former they can obtain it," but "if they get it, whether they want it or not," the GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Rep.) also suggests that while an amendment removing "all discriminations AGAINST women" is unnecessary, there remains "a doubt as to the desirability from the women's own point of view, of removing 'all discriminations in FAVOR of women.'"

To this however the TOLEDO BLADE (Ind. Rep.) replies that the women's party "draws no line between those rights desired which, if obtained, will mean actual loss of advantage to the sex and those rights from which it will acquire. Rather, the movement is an effort to obtain 'for women the fullest of citizenship, whether this means privileges or duties arduous to perform.'"

The movement, however, as the SAVANNAH NEWS (Dem.) sees it, is "silly," since "you cannot make men and women equal by law more than you can legislate the equalization of justice," but the RICHMOND TIMES DISPATCH (Ind. Dem.) predicts that it will triumph at any cost, as the people have no direct voice in determining such affairs, since the policy "in recent years has been to flout their desire for referendum."

The DETROIT FREE PRESS (Ind.) has no quarrel with the objectives of the amendment, but the "discriminatory conditions" it is intended to remove "are not constitutional facts," and the paper contends that since they are practically all matters of state "no concern" the constitution "needs no alteration to give the sex what the Woman's Party wants."

MOST of their demands the WINONA (Minn.) REPUBLICAN HERALD (Ind.) thinks "will be granted sooner or later because men come to recognize them as fair," and the YAKIMA (Wash.) REPUBLICAN (Rep.) suggests that more directly "possession of the ballot will bring to American women sooner or later all the rights and privileges that are still denied them."

It ever I have a chance to build a kitchen, I'm going to fly in the face of the efficiency experts and have plenty of waste space in it," says a woman who has been trying to adapt modern factory methods to house-keeping. The compact kitchen is all right up to the point of getting the meat on the table. Then there's a place to park the plates of salad while they're waiting to be served, and when the table is cleared there's no place to park some of the dishes while you're rinsing and stacking the others. Parking space for kitchens is my motto.

The homely truth, which many women in modern kitchens are discovering, is that the old-fashioned workshop had a few advantages after all. Women who build today are apt to make their kitchens a little bigger than those recently constructed. They route them so that the preparation of the meal may be done in a small and compact space, but they leave a little room to breathe in.

In working away from the too-crammed workshop, women are not going back to the pioneer kitchen, by any means, but simply adding some of its pleasant space to the modern comforts thus keeping what is best in both.—Tulsa Tribune (Dem.)

8 a. m. Sharp! Monday Morning

Due to the warm weather of the past few weeks we find ourselves overstocked with high class suits. That is the reason back of this drastic and unusual reduction of new merchandise in the very heart of the season. Our stock consists of the very best garments possible to buy, and you know that our regular prices are always much lower than the average. In addition to our policy of lower prices, you will find that this season, especially, we have marked our garments even lower than customary in order to be able to show good merchandise within reach of those having limited incomes. Now—in spite of all these facts—we must go further and cut our already low price 20% more. Get here early—you will find a complete stock of sizes, and a full range of prices and new cloths. Fur trimmings in abundance and much embroidery. Every single suit in the lot is new and many have just been received within the last few weeks. Come!

READ! Ten Examples READ!

Example No. "1"

Handsomely tailored from all wool oxford in its natural color, full silk lined, sewed throughout with all silk and all seams doubly bound. You will like the long accented lapel and the shoe-string belt. This model has two neatly tailored pockets that add just a touch of the "Manishness." Priced very close, originally at $45.00, now on sale at $36.00

Example No. "3"

Navy Tricotine is used in this handsome garment and the lining is of grey silk that lends just enough contrast. Collar is the popular long shawl effect and the collar lapels and fronts of the jacket show the very new use of neat little tab inserts. These tabs are made from half inch black silk braid and inserted in the seams around the edges of the whole front. Very inexpensive at $52.50, now to go for $42.00

Example No. "5"

Here is one of the newer cloths, and truly a very popular one—Duvet de Laine in brown with a great big English Mole Skin collar. Still another function for loops made of self material is found on the back of this jacket. Quite a lot of hand embroidery and buttons help this suit to hold its head among the top notchers too. Narrow belt. Worth $57.50. Now $46.00

Example No. "7"

Yulama in the new Marmot shade is certainly beautiful in this suit, too, with its neatly tailored "Slim Lines"—For this garment is in a stout size—size 19 to be exact—so our friends who like them large will not be disappointed, and we have many more in large sizes, too. Rows and rows of buttons and the new inverted tight-pleat with a tiny bit of black braid to help, just finishes this garment correctly. sold at $65.00. Now at $52.50

Example No. "9"

Here is another number made of the Yulama cloth in navy blue with a beautiful light grey lining. Deep collar of warm luxurious English Mole Skin and having large panel tabs and pom poms on the narrow ties of the same fur. The jacket has a beautiful flare below the waistline and is rather elaborately embroidered over the hips, too. This garment has been very much admired and looks like it was worth considerably more than $65.00 but for an immediate clearance it goes now for $52.00

Example No. "2"

This number is tailored from finest all wool tricotine in a beautiful shade of brown and is full lined throughout with pure silk lining to match. The collar is a cute convertible affair that buttons up or looks just as slightly laying down. Shoe-string belt with just enough silk embroidery in the back to avoid perfect plainness. Worth $45.00, now on sale at $36.00

Example No. "4"

Handsome brown velvet was chosen for this garment and it surely shows good choice. A pretty fancy silk lining to match, is used in the lining and there seems to be just a shadow of an interlining also. Two-way collar and in the back you will note something new in inverted tight-box-pleats flanked with rows and rows of cute buttons. Shoe-string belt. Worth $59.75. Now $47.80

Example No. "6"

Yulama—the very name sounds expensive, and it looks just as expensive as it sounds, too. Even the beautiful shawl collar of Beaverette cannot detract from this beautiful cloth made up in this particular suit. Gloriously silk lined with comfortable, perfect fitting armseye, that makes it a real pleasure to slip into the jacket. Priced at $59.75, but to clear our racks at once we offer it at $47.80

Example No. "8"

The Marmot shade is demanding much attention just now and it looks like it might become just as staple at navy and black. It is used perfectly in this Duvet de Laine suit with its elaborate hand embroidery on collar, side panels, and pockets. Silk lined throughout and hand tailored to delight every woman who appreciates perfect fitting garments, and knows that perfect fit is due entirely to perfect workmanship. Has been selling at $57.50, now to go at $46.00

Example No. "10"

This number is one of the only box coat styles in our stock, but it is a beautiful creation and deserves honorable mention. Made of a perfectly wonderful piece of brown Yulama and is full lined with pure silk. Hangs in a saucy "Swagger" ripple from the shoulders and deep Mole skin collar. Even the buttons of this garment do their "bit" toward proper garnishment. Plenty of hand embroidery in self and contrasting colors. Worth $75.00, on sale at $60.00

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

SAVE BRAKES BY LETTING ENGINE RETARD YOUR CAR

Compression in Motor Sufficient to Hold Car Going Down Hill

Carelessness and ignorance is blamed by automobile men for much of the brake trouble experienced by motorists. If automobile drivers knew more about the mechanism of their cars they would be able to save on their repair bills, they say.

"The upkeep and endurance of a motor vehicle is almost entirely up to the motorist," says George Puth of the Puth Auto shop, distributor of Case cars.

"In the proportion as intelligent manipulation and care is used so is the life of the car lengthened."

"For instance, when going down hill, keeping the brakes applied when it is not necessary causes the brakes to burn and lose their resistance. Again, shifting the gears before the clutch stops revolving does damage. Stopping the car suddenly or starting with a jerk and hitting rough spots are all things that will soon reduce a car in value and hurry it to the junk heap."

"Hardly a trip is made that the motorist does not notice or smell burning brake lining, either on his car or someone's else. This is noticed especially on steep grades. A check of last Sunday on a steep grade disclosed that every third car was burning its brake lining. This is nothing but ignorance on the part of the motorist, a costly ignorance that flattens his pocketbook."

"Burning brakes can be avoided, no matter what condition the road. Moreover, it is neither safe nor economical to retard the car with its brakes when descending a grade."

"When going down a sloping grade, leave machine in high gear. If the high gear does not retard enough, double shift to second gear, which will hold a machine on almost any incline. On very steep grades put car in low gear. By following this course the compression in the cylinders of the motor will hold the car back with little or no wear and tear on the motor. The motorist that depends entirely on his brakes will wear out a set of brakes in a short while."

Some motorists shut off the ignition when leaving the motor in gear going down an incline, believing it saves gas and also holds the car better. This is a mistake for the butterfly valve in the carburetor is always open enough when the throttle is closed to permit the motor to idle. Therefore, when the motor turns over, it sucks gas into the explosion chamber just the same. If the ignition is not on and the gas is not ignited, it accumulates in the cylinder head exhaust pipe and loads the muffler with gas. Then when the ignition is turned on again, this gas ignites all at once, causing an explosion in the muffler which, being built only of sheet metal may be blown to pieces. Then the only remedy is to purchase a new muffler. Another trouble maker, if the ignition is turned off when the motor is turning over, is that there is no explosion or heat to burn up the crank case oil that the pistons carry into the explosion chamber. This oil works its way into the porcelain of the spark plugs causing them to short.

"The only time to throw your gears out of mesh is after you have stopped. Leave your gears meshed and let the compression of your motor slow your car down. On a wet street the motorist should rely on his motor to slow down his car. Don't jam on the brakes. Jamming on the brakes causes a machine to skid and at the same time endangers the lives both of the occupants of the car and of pedestrians."

Auto Owners Are Demanding More Comfort, Service

The motoring public is educating itself into a body of comfort and service seekers. Less and less do automobile dealers get demands for speed and power. Instead, there comes an increased call for endurance, ease and comfort.

At a recent census of automobile owners throughout the country, the American Automobile Association found that most of the automobile purchasers today demand endurance above all requisites in a car. Therefore, manufacturers have directed their efforts toward more efficient engines, sturdier chassis and, most important of all, good service.

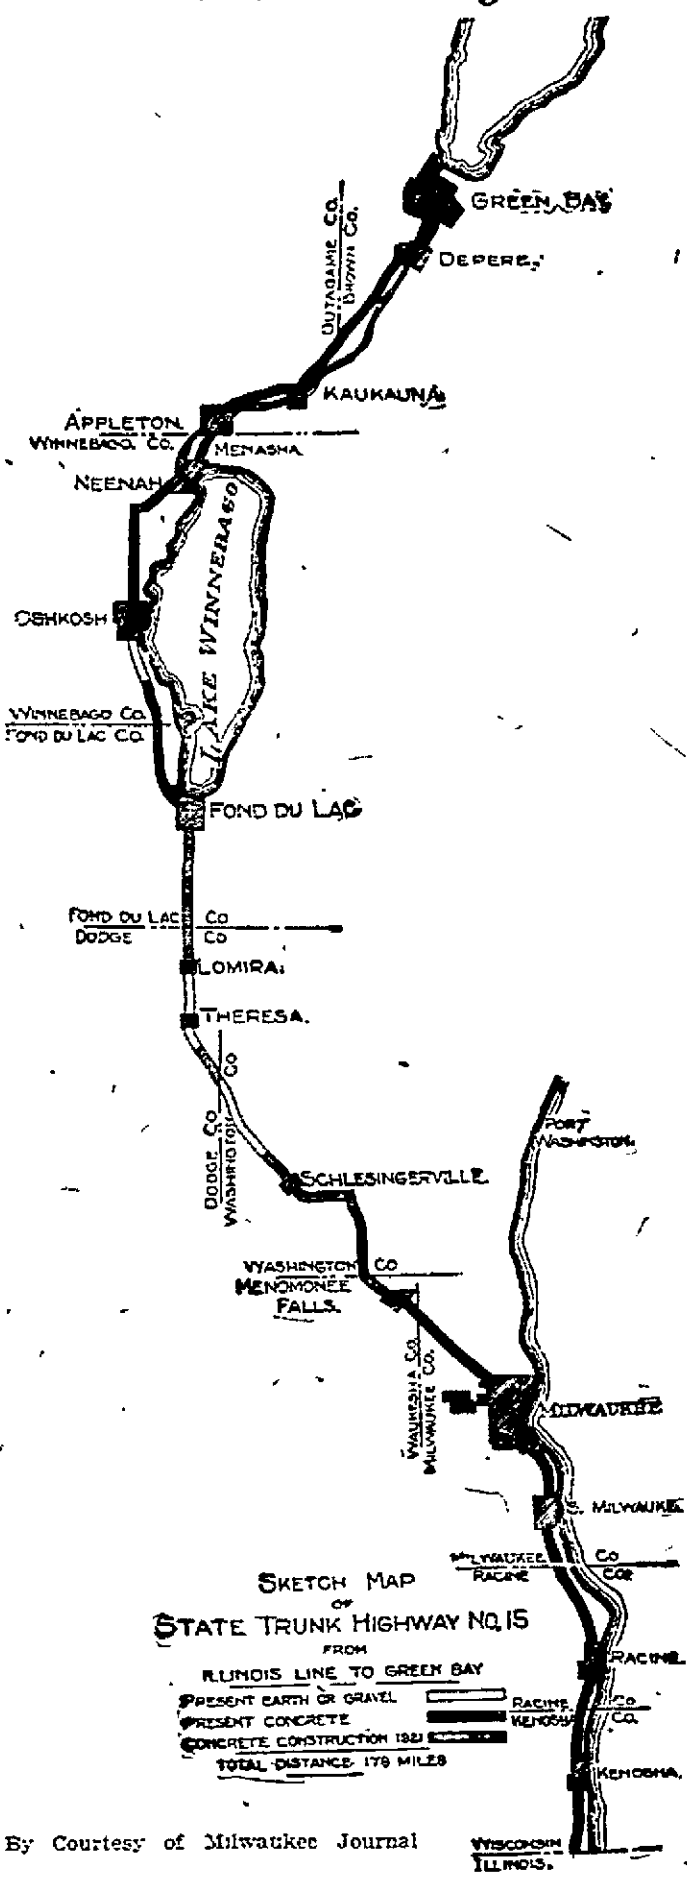

For endurance, power and speed have been sacrificed to a large extent. Four-cylinder cars have never been as popular as they are today.

Out of some 120 car models manufactured today, 105 have six-cylinder engines and more than 60 have four cylinders. But there are more four-cylinder automobiles on the streets than there are any other kind. Only eleven four-cylinder models are sold below $1,000.

Smaller bore engines have come to the front. The recent races at Indianapolis and Le Mans, France, have proven the value of this form of power plant.

Ease and comfort in riding have been the aim of engineers who are concentrating on spring and chassis design.

Dream Of Concrete From Valley To Chicago Almost Realized

By Courtesy of Milwaukee Journal

The dream of automobile drivers that they would someday have a concrete road from the Fox river valley to Chicago is about to be realized. Only a few miles of dirt road are left between this city and Milwaukee and there is only one gap on the Milwaukee-Chicago route.

For several years the realization of this dream has been more or less a nightmare to motorists because of the construction work on the route. There has been detour after detour over terrible roads until many drivers declared they would never go to Milwaukee by automobile until the work is completed.

Next year there will be but few detours. Most of the work will be completed this year so that the driver can get on concrete here or at Green Bay or any other place in the valley and travel on the cream colored ribbon to the state metropolis.

Construction work between Neenah and Oshkosh will be completed in a few days, providing a concrete route from this city to Oshkosh. There is a stretch of a few miles of macadam road, in fairly good condition, south of Oshkosh and then there is concrete all the way through Fond du Lac to Lomira on Route 15. The road from Fond du Lac to Lomira is about completed. A dirt road, in good shape, will be found from Lomira to a few miles beyond Theresa where a few miles of new concrete will be encountered. Then there will be another strip of dirt road of seven or eight miles to Slinger and then concrete all the rest of the way into Milwaukee. Construction work was in progress in six places on that route this last year. As a result detours were necessary almost the entire distance. The first was encountered just out of Neenah, another was necessary nearer Oshkosh and it was detour nearly all way from Fond du Lac to Milwaukee. When the work is completed Milwaukee will be only about 3½ hours from Appleton by automobile.

Experience taught Appleton people the best routes. Most of the drivers went out on route 18 to Leppa corners and then turned south when they went to Oshkosh in order to avoid the choice of two bad routes out of Neenah.

Dozens of drivers, at least in the last few weeks, traveled over route 57 to Milwaukee in order to avoid the detours on 15 and 55. Route 57 is in fair to good condition from Appleton to Waldo after which the driver encounters a number of hills where the road is in deplorable condition. The road to Saukville to Milwaukee is excellent. Drivers have found that route much better than 15 and 55.

There is movement now on foot to have the military road running north to Keshena added to the state trunkline system. This is permitted by a law recently enacted. It is said this road, when put in shape, will provide an excellent drive through the Indian reservation.

It is said Hortonsville people will make a demand on the county board next year that the dirt road be paved. That road now is full of holes and is a serious interruption in a splendid road. A gap of 1,700 feet in the concrete road in the village

Autoists Disregarding State Headlight Laws

Many Cars Are Running at Night With Only One Light—Too Much Glare

Automobile driving would be much more pleasant if every auto driver had as much concern for the comfort and safety of others, as he wishes they would have for him. It has been often repeated that the danger in automobile riding more often arises from the carelessness or thoughtlessness of other drivers than from their own shortcomings. That is particularly true in the matter of lights.

While there is a law in this state that provides that automobiles shall carry at least two headlights of a certain candle power and that these lights must throw their beams a certain number of feet ahead of the car, the common practice is to ignore it entirely and as a result driving at night is anything but a pleasure.

The glaring headlight evil is becoming worse instead of better. Absolutely no attention is paid to the law governing the use of lights. It is not uncommon to meet two or three cars every mile without lights or with only one light burning. Every third car is violating the glaring headlight ordinance, either because it has plain lenses or is carrying lenses which are improperly painted.

In order to comply with the law the lenses must be painted from their top to their center and the bulb must be correctly adjusted. Very few of the painted lenses are following this instruction and as a result whatever point and time has been expended on them is wasted.

Farmers who drive wagons and buggies on concrete roads at night without lights are taking their lives in their hands. That there hasn't been a large number of fatalities this last summer because of failure to carry lights is due more to Providence than to careful driving. It probably will be necessary for several drivers of horse drawn vehicles to be badly injured before the rest of them learn to carry lights.

The autoist who carries one light on his automobile invites disaster. He puzzles the driver approaching him and he hasn't a good view of the road himself. Common ordinary horse sense should tell a man that he is risking his neck by going on the highways at night with only one headlight burning.

DRIVE SLOWER WHEN GOING AROUND CORNER

Taking a sharp corner without slackening speed means poor service from tires. Although everyone knows that it is inviting accident, there are still many who will take a sharp curve without taking their foot off the accelerator. The practice is responsible for as many collisions as any other one thing.

But even when nothing happens to car or driver, there is something happening to the tire. The tendency of the car to sway to the side as it takes a corner, puts a severe strain on the casing. Miller tire men claim to some extent it takes off the tread as in skidding. More serious is its effect on the fabric. It weakens the side wall fabric, and brings nearer the day when the tire must be discarded.

They say there are drivers who will listen to something about their pocketbook when they are deaf to advice on living a longer life. This class should think about their tires when they are approaching the sharp corner and the dangerous curve.

Look over your tool box to see that you have all necessary equipment. A higher quality fuel is sold this year than last, the Bureau of Mines has found.

Out of 41,000,000 tons of steel produced in 1920, more than 1,000,000 went to automobile construction.

But we can make any battery last longer and serve better if you give us a chance. We can make the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery do both—and it already holds records for long life and reliability.

We can always do more with a battery if we get a chance right at the start, although we are ready to help anytime. Come in!

M'CANN COMPANY HAS AUTO SHOW

New Cadillac and Hudson Models on Display—Enlarge Repair Room

An automobile exhibition of closed and open models of the new Type 61 Cadillac is being held at the showroom of the J. T. McCann company from Oct. 6 to 9. Many people have inspected these new models and are much pleased with what Cadillac has to offer in its new model.

The new 1922 model Hudson "Speedster" is on display at the local distributors show room, the J. T. McCann company. The car is greatly improved. Some of the changes are: fenders lowered about three inches on the sides, splash pan in front, a new type multiple disc clutch which is exceptionally easy to operate, a new ball and socket type gear shift which operates very easily, making it more desirable than ever for women to handle.

A great improvement has been made by the McCann company by enlarging its repair department. Increased business has made this necessary. A partition has been taken out making the department accessible for eight cars. An elevated machine shop has been provided which will accommodate lathe, air compressor, electrically operated, and machine tools.

WISCONSIN CAR IN FAR OFF CHINA

China, too, is coming to the forefront in the use of motor trucks and motor transportation. This belief is borne out by the recent establishment of a motor bus line in Canton, China, a city where the motor driven vehicle has never before been known to operate.

The bus line is operating fifteen FWD trucks, manufactured by the Four Wheel Drive Auto company of Clintonville, Wis. The trucks are equipped with passenger bodies of a Chinese make, and each truck hauls a trailer, which is similarly equipped. One unit, consisting of a truck and trailer, has a seating capacity of seventy persons.

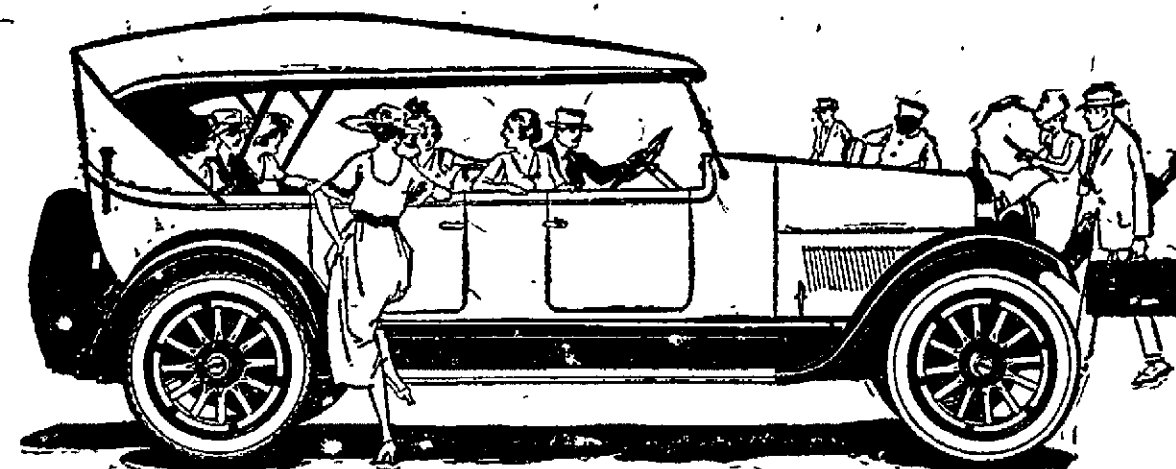

SPARK PLUG CLEANER

A piece of corset steel, bent U-shaped, will effectively clean carbon out of spark plug shells. It scrapes the surface clean, especially where gasoline and brush do not reach.

Hard riding is caused largely by neglect to keep the spring leaves lubricated.

An auto owner in Rio Janeiro must engage a footman to open the door, even though he has a chauffeur.

REO

REO REPEATERS Result from Reo Reliability

We doubt if any other make of motor car can show such a high percentage of Repeat orders as Reo records reveal.

It is the usual—not the exceptional—thing for a buyer to say "This is my fourth Reo!"

We could cite you many cases where motorists have never owned any other make—dating from 1904 up to now.

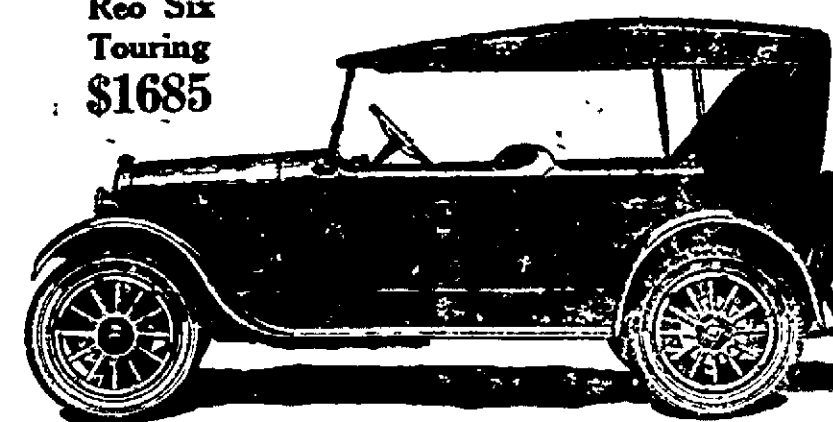

Some have owned as many as eleven Reo motor cars in that time. That's "Standardizing on Reos" with a vengeance, and it's sound practice.

Demand For Used Cars Is Greater Than Ever

Cars Can be Purchased More Cheaply Now Than in the Spring

Used cars are as much in demand now as they were a year ago, declares Nick Reitzner of the Appleton Auto Exchange, in speaking of conditions affecting the used car market in Appleton.

That there has been no slump during the last twelve months he attributes to the decrease in the price of used cars, which in most cases ranges from 50 to 75 per cent. This and other factors have in some respects stimulated the market.

Last year, there were those who would not look at a used car with the intention of buying it. Now they feel that a used car in a satisfactory condition would serve their purpose quite acceptably.

Season Helps Market

The time of year is another thing people consider when buying a used car, Mr. Reitzner said. Demand for automobiles recedes commensurately with the approach of winter. This tends to lower the price and makes it possible to buy a machine at $75 or $100 less at this time of year than it would cost in the spring when the call of the open road is loudest. This is another inducement to fall buying and serves as a prop to the used car market in what would otherwise be a very dull season.

There are now approximately as many late models as there are old machines in the used car market. This is said to be a natural sequence to conditions of the last few months when cars were bought at the peak price and where business depression and unemployment forced sale at a sacrifice.

Sells Old Models

The oldest car ever sold by the exchange was a 1908 model Maxwell

GOODYEAR'S DEAF AND DUMB MEN PLAY ON GRID

A strong football team has been organized among the deaf and dumb workmen at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s factory at Akron and a heavy schedule arranged, including a trip to Washington, D. C., at the end of the season to play a semi-professional team at the capital.

All the opposing teams on the schedule are speaking teams. The "silent" quarter gives all his signals by the sign method, but despite this handicap the team has shown up well against all the opposition encountered. It is the fourth year that the silents have had their own team at Goodyear, and have twice beaten the Goodyear Regulars (a speaking team) in the Thanksgiving day contest.

Big crowds attend the Silents' games as the men put plenty of spirit into their games.

Muffler explosions while the engine is running indicate a missing spark plug.

which was disposed of several months ago and is still running satisfactorily. Most cars, handled, however, are not more than four years old.

The three principal reasons why people want used cars, Mr. Reitzner said, is because they are cheaper, because they give practice in the care of a car and because mistakes are not as costly with a used car as they would be with a new machine.

It is upon these three reasons that the entire demand of used cars is based, Mr. Reitzner explains. These are fundamental to the trade and will continue, so in spite of changes in conditions, he believes.

HEAVY DEMAND IS REASON FOR FOUR CYLINDER BUICK

Manufacturers Almost Forced to Return to Making Lighter Model Car

Reappearance of the pre-war Buick "four" in the Appleton market a month ago has revived almost overnight the latent popularity in which the public has held this model since its first appearance several years ago, declares Ambrose, Wilton of the Central Motor Car company.

Even during the war, calls for the "four" were frequent and prospective buyers were much disappointed, Mr. Wilton said, because the car was no longer being produced. Following the resumption of manufacture of the model, the first new "four" was received by the company late in August and since news of its reappearance has spread frequent calls have been made for it.

Manufacture of the "four" model was discontinued by the Buick company shortly after the United States declared war on Germany. At that time the government regulated a part of the Buick factory and it was necessary to discontinue the production of some model. The increase in the demand for larger models seemed to make it advisable to discontinue the "four" in favor of the "six."

Resumption of the production of the "four" is attributed to a return to normal conditions. Return of demand for lower priced cars and the previous popularity of the model also influenced the manufacturers in their decision to put this model back on the market.

The new "four" embodies all the Buick features. It is made in four models, the two-passenger roadster, the five-passenger open car, the three-passenger coupe and the five-passenger sedan.

Only a comparatively few of the new fours have as yet been distributed by the company so that it is impossible to make any statement in regard to sales, Mr. Wilton pointed out. Nevertheless prospective purchasers of the new car are clamoring for the closed models since the return of cool weather, Mr. Wilton said.

LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR NOW $1150

This is a Studebaker Year

The car that is converting thousands to the SIX

The popularity of the six-cylinder automobile is universal. Everyone admits that there is great pleasure in driving a Six, and the six-cylinder motor is now recognized as the most satisfactory unit of power.

The Studebaker LIGHT-SIX motor embodies the most advanced engineering developments—

—it is powerful. Its 40-horsepower motor supplies much more than the usual power per pound of car weight.

From the first moment you sit behind the wheel you get that velvety feeling of a strong, continuous flow of overlapping power impulses.

—it picks up quickly and smoothly, affording a quick getaway in traffic; it throttles down to a snail's pace in high gear.

See this car—drive it—test it. You will be won by it. You will understand why it is the Studebaker ideal of what a light, six-cylinder car should be.

The New Buick "Four"

A Thoroughbred Four, Completing the Famed Buick Line

The new Four-Cylinder Buick, here announced, is a thoroughbred—a pedigreed car well worthy of its name.

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized Buick automobiles.

The advent of this new Four makes the Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name "Buick."

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of Buick's engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assures the highest standard of performance obtainable today.

Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.

Two open and two closed body types mounted on the Buick built chassis comprise the new series.

Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with Buick.

Obviously a high grade automobile—a genuine Buick production—the prices listed below make this great Four even greater. A value such as this is possible only because of the combination of Buick engineering skill devoted to the one ideal of quality, Buick production facilities developed over nearly a quarter of a century, and Buick's nation-wide distribution and service organization.

The Buick Motor Company is proud of the Buick Four. It has the faith of long experience in this newest addition to its line. It places upon it unreservedly the Buick guarantee carried by every Buick automobile produced. That its confidence is well placed is manifested not only by the keen interest with which motorists have awaited this announcement, but also the advance orders placed by distributors, dealers, and the general public.

THREE RECORDS GO BY BOARD IN THIRD GAME OF BIG SERIES

Giants Show New Spirit as They Prepare for Another Attack

By Henry L. Farrell
By United Press Leased Wire
New York—With hope born anew and determination resurrected, the New York Giants had their heads up today.

The National league champions, having evaded the mystic eye of the New York Yanks yesterday, were convinced that a hope for the baseball crown still is in their grasp.

John McGraw's bunch of Giants had reasons for the perceptible swelling beneath their shirt bosoms. In their utter rout of the American league title-holders yesterday, the Giants broke three world series records:

Frank Frisch, the real big hero of the series with a batting average of .700 scored twice in the same inning; Pop Young, the diminutive plant of the Texas sands, hit a double and a triple in the same inning and the Giants smashed eight safeties and dented the plate eight times in one inning; the greatest carnage in the history of the annual diamond classic.

Prospects of the Yanks are not as bright as they went to the line for the fourth battle of the hectic series. Babe Ruth, the power of the attack and the inspiring spirit of the team, probably will not be in the lineup. He is out with an infected elbow and his loss will be severely felt.

Today's game is expected to draw forty thousand fans and contribute more to the record attendance being established daily. There were 36,509 in the stands yesterday and they paid $119,007 to see the battle. For the three games the total attendance is 101,651, and the receipts $338,232, of which the players get $172,529.02. The players' share yesterday was more than $60,000.

To keep the jump on the Giants, Miller Huggins, the saved off manager of the Yanks, today was expected to call on Carl Mays, whose underhand slant knocked off the Giants in the first game. Harry Harper, the lone southpaw of the camp, however, may get the call if he is right.

Shutlin' Phil Douglas, the long mountaineer, is considered as a sure starter for McGraw.

Ruth's absence will necessitate a change in the Yank lineup and a possible shift in the batting order. Either Chick Fawcett or Bobby Roth will patrol the garden in place of the champion slugger and Fawcett will lead off instead of Miller if he is substituted.

Sport Views And News

Miller Huggins and his Yanks probably are not quite as cheery. That licking the Giants handed 'em, Friday, surely was awful while it lasted. What's more the upset was all the worse considering that the American leaguers had piled up a four run lead and in that round nobody would have given a plugged dime for the chances of McGraw's team.

Baseball is a funny game and it doesn't take much for a team to start slipping. A couple of base on balls put the Yanks and Shawkey on the road to ruin. Defeat was turned into victory with only three hits. However, when the National leaguers did get busy with their bats the thud of the ball probably could have been heard all over Coogan's blint.

Babe Ruth is still home-run-less. The King of Swat hasn't been finding the Giants' pitchers much to his liking. Bambino has come through with a couple of timely singles which scored runs but this has been the limit of his stick work. In the first three games, he didn't get anything like an extra base slash. The slugger has had more than his share of strike outs. This probably being due to his over anxiety to murder the pill.

Infected Arm May Keep Ruth Out Of Battle

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—An infected elbow was expected to keep the famous Babe Ruth out of the Yankee line up in today's world series game.

"He spent a restless night and was in great pain. I don't think there is a chance that he will be able to play today," Mrs. Ruth told the United Press.

Mrs. Ruth had spent a sleepless night caring for her husband.

Dr. George David Stewart said: "From Mr. Ruth's condition last night I would advise against him playing today. His arm was badly infected and even in the event he should play it would be very painful for him."

Ruth's left arm was injured in the final game of the Cleveland series two weeks ago. He slid into second base and tore the flesh from his elbow. Little was thought of the injury until the arm began to swell yesterday. It became so painful that after Ruth walked in the eighth inning he was replaced by Chick Fawcett.

HARVARD CLASHES WITH HOOSIER TEAM

Crimson Expects One of Hardest Games of Season This Afternoon

By United Press Leased Wire
Cambridge, Mass.—Harvard faces one of the hardest games of the year, experts say, when she meets the University of Indiana eleven in the stadium here this afternoon. Several positions on the Crimson lineup have been changed in anticipation of the Hoosiers' form of attack. Coach Bob Fisher declared today that his team was "set" for any form of attack the Indiana eleven might use.

The westerners are confident that they will come through with a victory. They point out that seven of their men are regulars from the 1920 team, which made a fine showing last season.

The work of Kyle and Hanny for the Hoosiers will be watched with interest, as these two men have starred in past performances.

Fisher will give Jenkins and Gherke, both members of the freshmen team last year, a chance in the backfield with Charlie Buell and George Owen. Captain Kane, although suffering from a minor injury, will be in the lineup today, Fisher announced.

Weather conditions were ideal for the contest. A slight breeze was blowing, but this appeared to be dying down. A light rainfall last night did little or no damage to the playing field.

MENDELSON OUTBOXED BY NEW YORK SCRAPPY

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—Benny Valgar, New York lightweight, outboxed Johnny Mendelson, Milwaukee, here last night in a ten round bout. Valgar's clever foot work and boxing gave him an edge in five rounds. Mendelson taking three, with two being even. Valgar floored the Milwaukee boy in the third round with a right cross to the chin.

Earl McArthur, Sioux City, Iowa, bantam, knocked out Frankie Henke, Milwaukee, in the seventh round of a scheduled ten round semi wind-up. Pete Johnson, Kenosha and Harry Schuster, Milwaukee, boxed ten rounds to a draw in the opener.

Barnes Is Hero Of Third Game Of Title Series

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Jess Barnes, Giant pitcher, proved himself the hero of the third game by coming on the mound at the crucial moment, holding the slugging Yanks to four scattered hits and starting the hitting rally of the Giants.

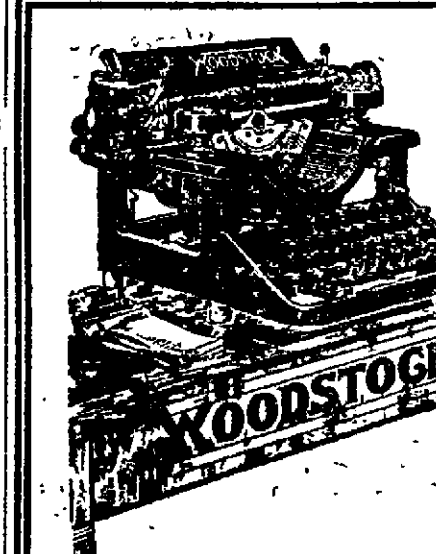

"All we were worried about was finding our batting eyes," he said today. "Everybody but George Kelly found his yesterday, and now we are happy."

"I was glad that I was called upon to do my share and glad that I was able to do it to the best of my ability. "We'll even the count today."

SCHULTZ IS HERO OF TITLE GAMES

Hurls Milwaukee Palmolives to Two Wins Over Cleveland Team

Hank Schultz, premier hurler in the Fox River Valley league, pitched the Palmolives of Milwaukee to the national amateur industrial baseball championship of the world when he worked in two games against the Cleveland Aces, champions of Cleveland, at Milwaukee on Friday. Hank won the first game, 4 to 0, and relieved Logan in the second which was won by the Palmolives, 11 to 5.

Schultz held the heavy hitting Cleveland team to four scattered hits in the first game. Logan started the second and four runs were scored off him in six innings. Schultz took up the burden when Logan split a finger and he held the Clevelanders to one more run while the Palmolives hammered in eleven.

Hank will pitch for the Brands against the Calgary Black Sox here Sunday afternoon.

BLACK SOX SHOW IMPROVEMENT IN STYLE OF PLAY

Interest is Keen in Game With Canadian Colored Team Here Sunday

Despite numerous counter attractions, interest is keen in the baseball game between the Calgary Black Sox and the Brands at Brandt park Sunday afternoon. The Black Sox play snappy ball and their comedians keep the fans entertained.

According to reports from the north the Sox are playing much better ball than they did at the start of the season. The Brands also have improved their play.

Schultz, Shott and Mudloff will be here for the game. Kuenn, a new man, has been secured to play shortstop. The team will present a strong front against the invaders.

A number of local fans are at Menasha today where the Milwaukee Brewers are playing the Monashu team. The Brewers are on a barnstorming trip are to play here a week from Sunday.

READY TO RESUME PLAY IN JUNIOR WORLD SERIES

By United Press Leased Wire
Louisville, Ky.—With the series standing even to date, one game each for the Baltimore Orioles and the Louisville Colonels, the teams were ready today to take up the junior world series here.

Friday was an off day. Games were played Wednesday and Thursday. Managers of both teams put their players through "skull practice" Friday.

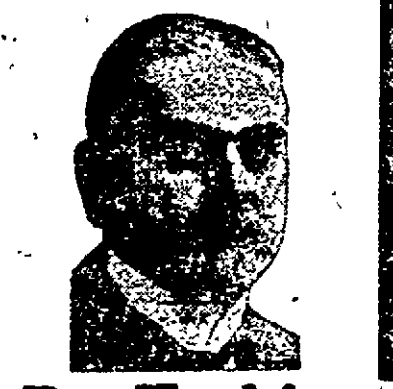

The teams will play here today and Sunday and then move over to Baltimore for four games if that many are necessary. If the series is not decided at the end of eight games there will be a toss up to decide where the ninth game will be played.

MARTINSON HURLS CHALLENGE AT HILL

Paul Martinson, the big Chicago Dane who lost to George Hill in a wrestling match here last winter, still thinks he can whip the former Appleton man in a finish match, and his manager, Joe Coffey, has written to Elmer Johnston, local fight promoter, suggesting that the men be matched. Coffey is willing to send his man against Hill on a winner take all basis and lay a fifty bet on the side.

Johnston has not as yet responded to Coffey's suggestion but it is possible the men may be matched if Hill returns to this part of the country. He has been travelling with a carnival company all summer and now is in the east.

The high school team left early Saturday morning for Antigo where it meets the northern high school in one of the most important games of the season. A defeat for Appleton will almost shove it out of the running for the state high school title. A number of fans accompanied the squad.

Lawrence freshmen are playing the Oshkosh Normal team at Oshkosh this afternoon in a practice game.

Many Appleton fans will journey to Green Bay on Sunday to see Cul-Buck and the rest of the Packers battle the Cornell-Hamburg team of Chicago. The stockyards squad is regarded as one of the strongest in Illinois.

AN ACTUAL SCENE

On an American Railroad During the Winter of 1917-1918

The winter of 1917-18 was the severest in a number of years. Transportation was held up all over the country and many communities suffered from lack of Food and Fuel. In most of the cases it required two engines to get thru. The streets and roads were drifted so badly, they were almost impassible.

It required four months to bring coal from the Pennsylvania mines. Coal leaving there on January 1st arrived in Appleton along in May when it did little good, the winter months having passed.

Because of these unforeseen difficulties coal dealers must stock their yards during the Summer and Fall months, when transportation facilities are normal, and coal is obtainable. As a consequence they are well prepared and equipped to fill your coal requirements before the Heavy Cold Weather Demand Sets In. When king winter arrives orders are delivered according to dates on which they were placed.

Buy your coal now and in so doing insure yourself against conditions which may make it impossible to get your usual supply of fuel later on. The dealers below have ample stocks and can make immediate deliveries. It doesn't take much of a car shortage to boost coal prices and cause suffering. Get your coal in now and help your dealer avoid this.
